

MESSAGE

As we march confidently towards a developed India, it is paramount that we prepare and shape young minds to assume the mantle of leadership in the coming decades. Towards that end we must recognize, identify, and foster each student's unique capability by instituting steps in our schools and colleges that would ensure their holistic development in both academic and non-academic spheres.

We must focus on cognitive development and character building to create well rounded individuals equipped with 21st century skills by identifying specific skill sets and values for integration and incorporation at each stage of learning; from pre-school to higher education.

I am happy to note the superlative achievements of the students and staff. It is also heartening that the current edition of Arivoli has "Holistic Development" as its theme. I would like to compliment all stakeholders in AWES for impressing upon this aspect in our educational institutions. AWES must continue to ensure that we provide quality education to our wards at an affordable cost.

Finally, I would like to compliment the editorial team of "Arivoli 2025" for bringing out an enriching, illuminating and well-presented magazine.

'Jai Hind'

(Upendra Dwivedi)
General
Chief of the Army Staff